1. Talk: Karen Green - Catharine Macaulay, Brissot de Warville, and the History of England in the French Revolution (Center for the History of Women Philosophers and Scientists Paderborn, July 4th, 2017) In 1785 Jacques-Pierre Brissot de Warville was in London, attempting to set up a society and journal to encourage cross-channel literary and political communication. His efforts resulted in the production of a few issues of the Lycee de Londres. He reported that in England he gained little support or encouragement, except from Catharine Macaulay. In this paper I examine their friendship, and explore the influence of Macaulay's account of the seventeenth-century English Revolution on 'patriots' and others, in France, prior to and during the French Revolution.

2. Final Call for Submissions - Libori Summer School 2017 (Center for the History of Women Philosophers and Scientists Paderborn, July 15th, 2017) The first international Libori Summer School will take place at the Center for the History of Women Philosophers and Scientists (Paderborn University, Germany), July 23rd-28th 2017. The Libori Summer School 2017 offers four parallel courses held by leading experts in the specific areas which will present, investigate, and discuss women philosophers and scientists of various eras. The courses take place from Monday, July 24th to Friday, July 28th, 2017. Please submit your curriculum vitae (no more than two pages), a letter of motivation (no more than one page) and a statement of intent, which two courses would be your preference of attending, by July 15th, 2017.

The list of courses and further information on the Libori Summer School can be found here:
